WAR ON THE REDS SOON UNDER WAY

Chief Flynn to Start Machinery for Elimination of Radical Propaganda.

MAY EXTEND TO CANADA

Systematic and perfectly organized war against all anarchistic, revolutionary and violently radical elements in the United States is expected to be under way within the next twenty-four hours.

Following an extended conference late yesterday afternoon between Attorney General Palmer, Francis P. Garvan, his special assistant in charge of anarchist investigations, James Creighton, chief of the special assistant, and Inspector Lawrence O'Dea, Chief Flynn went to New York where, it was intimated, the machinery for taking into custody a host of reds throughout the country is to be set in motion at once.

May Include Canada.

Renewed intimations were given that the campaign is to extend across the boundary into the Canadian northwest, where agents of the Russian bolsheviks have been active for some time. It also was intimated that anarchists and revolutionists who have sought refuge or who have directed anarchistic operations in propaganda from south of the Rio Grande are not to be immune.

Officials of the Department of Justice intimated directly that preparations for checkmating planned anarchist outbreaks are complete and comprehensive.

Warning to City Officials.

Mayors and chiefs of police of every large city in the country have by this time received warnings of bombings planned for their communities during the first week in July. In almost every instance the government investigators, it was learned, have obtained exact details of the bombings and other attacks planned by the revolutionists, and complete outlines of the plans have been turned to the city executives and police departments. In consequence of these specific and detailed warnings the authorities have been enabled to take all possible precautions, so that a country-wide anarchist outbreak on about July 4 will be nipped in the bud—suppressed before it has time to materialize.

Mild Talks at Radical Meeting.

Presence of a number of bureau of investigation operatives under the leadership of Inspector Lawrence O'Dea at a meeting of radicals in a Pennsylvania avenue hall last night caused those in charge of the gathering to modify their program, so that, instead of a series of violent outbreaks against the government, which was to have made up the program of talks, the speeches were nothing more than perfunctory, mild talks on labor conditions. Eleven men and two women attended the meeting, besides the detectives, and the operatives noted carefully all that was said. It was stated today that one or two of those at the meeting had been in close touch with some of the suspects now held here, and that one, and possibly both, of the women are to be taken into custody on charges growing out of former utterances against the government, government officials, the law and the courts, etc.

Arrests to Be Made Promptly.

Inspector O'Dea said today that everything is in readiness for the arrest here of a score or more of pronounced radicals, including several "parlor anarchists" and "parlor bolsheviks" whose names have been in the possession of the bureau of investigation for some time and whose talks, couched in discreet language, has, nevertheless, been of such a character as to incite others to acts of violence.

"When these arrests are made," said Inspector O'Dea, "a good many Washington people are going to have the surprise of their lives."

All life guards at the tidal basin bathing beach passed the Red Cross life-saving tests held at the beach Wednesday, according to an announcement made in the office of the superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

Announcement has been made of the installation of a lung motor at the beach. Each life guard has been taught how to handle the lung motor.

No boys under sixteen will be allowed on the beach Saturday afternoon or all day Sunday. This Sunday, they were issued because of the inadequate number of lockers at the beach.

Gets Suspended Year's Sentence.

Kane, who turned state's evidence at the trial recently of eleven striking employees of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, charged with destroying a car of the company during the strike of March, 1917, was sentenced today by Justice Sions in Criminal Division to serve one year at Occoquan. The sentence was suspended and Kane placed on probation. The other strikers were acquitted by the jury.

Ad Club Continues Meetings.

The Advertising Club of Washington decided at a dinner meeting at the Columbia Country Club last night to continue monthly gatherings during the summer. Addresses were delivered by Robert E. CALLS MR. BURLISON "GREATEST BLUNDERER"

His Administration Attacked by Representative Gallivan—Defended by Representative Sisson.

An attack upon Postmaster General Burlison by Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts, followed by defense of that official by Representative Sisson of Mississippi, marked the proceedings of the House yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Gallivan characterized the Postmaster General as "one of the greatest blunders of the administration and one of the worst autocrats of the country ever had in official life," and added:

"It is the unanimous sentiment of the people of the entire country that Postmaster General Burlison is the biggest and most complete failure as a public official that the country has ever produced."

Reviews Telephone Strike.

After reviewing the strike of telephone operators at Boston, Mr. Gallivan asserted that Mr. Burlison forced a strike among telegraph employees and then "got from under" by turning the operation back to private hands and "destroyed all hope of government ownership of public utilities, notwithstanding his public declaration in favor of it." The postal service, he declared, was filled with embezzled, baffled, underpaid and overworked men.

"The Postmaster General," Mr. Gallivan continued, "has made his service hated by thousands of those who serve in it, because the postal department has been administered since he went into office under a rule of tyranny and an economic creed so harsh as to bring disintegration as a natural consequence."

Reply by Mr. Sisson.

Representative Sisson, democrat, Mississippi, answering Mr. Gallivan, declared the people loved the Postmaster General for the enemies he had made in an honest endeavor to give the country a proper mail service at economical cost. There have been no charges of fraud against him, he said.

"I trust President Wilson, before he takes any action," Mr. Sisson said, "will look into the record, and if you will look into it you will find one single thing on which you can justify the claim for his removal."

Mr. Burlison Feels Honored by "Disapprobation of Such a Man" as Mr. Gallivan.

"I feel honored by the disapprobation of such a man," Postmaster General Burlison today wrote Representative James P. Buchanan of Texas, in reply to a telephone inquiry as to the reason for the hostile feeling of Representative Gallivan. "I would not ask you to waste your time in making a reply to any statement he might make."

Mr. Burlison charges, in a memorandum prepared for Representative Buchanan, that the real reason for Representative Gallivan's "resentment and rage" is the fact that the Postmaster General was instrumental in having the last Congress discontinue the pneumatic tube service in Boston. Mr. Gallivan, according to Mr. Burlison, who quotes the Congressional Record for authority, owned eighty shares in the American Pneumatic Service Company of June 10, 1918.

E. B. Hewett, foreman in the employ of a Norfolk, Va., construction company, who shot and killed Thomas B. Wallers, has been indicted.

MRS. ELDRIDGE URGES WOMEN TO BUY STAMPS

"We have need of thrift as well as progressiveness. The thrift stamp and the war saving societies will be the afterwork of the war," said Mrs. Charlotte Eldridge, field director of the woman's division of the war loan organization of the Treasury Department, speaking today to the food production and home economics department of the District of Columbia field division, Council of National Defense, at the District building.

In every woman's club, said Mrs. Eldridge, and the buying of a twenty-five-cent thrift stamp will make a member, while it takes only ten members to make a society. Mrs. Eldridge believes women should set the example in saving money and should know the value of it. The slogan of these societies will be: "Every time you see a quarter think of a thrift stamp."

The salvage campaign in the District will be started Monday, under the same auspices as the war saving societies. On Saturday, Boy Scouts will distribute salvage cards to the householders.

ARMY-NAVY AVIATION FUND INCREASE FAVORED

With few dissenting votes the Senate naval committee today decided to recommend an increase in the naval aviation fund for 1920 from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000, as requested by Secretary Daniels.

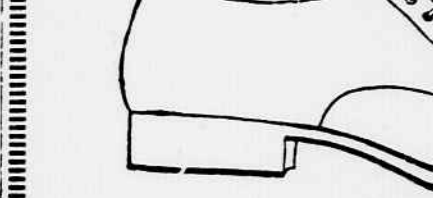

A subcommittee of the Senate military committee voted to recommend an increase for Army aviation from $15,000,000 to $55,000,000.

PROTEST THE LUMP SUM WAR RISK PAYMENTS

Senators Vigorously Oppose Policy Alleged to Have Been Adopted by Bureau.

Vigorous protests against the payment of war risk insurance to beneficiaries of soldiers and sailors was made in the Senate today by Senator Smoot of Utah, Senator Williams of Mississippi, Senator Thomas of Colorado and others.

The matter was brought before the Senate by Senator Smoot, who said that he had been informed that the payment of war risk insurance in lump sums was under consideration by officials of the bureau of war risk insurance and Secretary Glass of the Treasury.

Secretary Glass Asked to Report.

A resolution offered by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, calling upon Secretary Glass to inform the Senate whether he had approved any form of policy to be issued by the war risk insurance bureau to soldiers and sailors permitting the payment of insurance in lump sums to the beneficiary, was adopted by the Senate.

"I hope that will never happen," said Senator Smoot. "It would be in direct opposition to the purpose of Congress in enacting the war risk insurance for the soldiers and sailors. The merchant defaulted and he forfeited $30 on the first charge and $20 on the second."

that only 8 per cent of the beneficiaries who receive money in lump sums make wise use of the money."

Senator Nelson's Suggestion.

Senator Nelson suggested that if the government were forced to pay lump sums to beneficiaries under the war risk insurance it might have to pay an enormous sum during a single year, which it could not well do.

Senator Williams of Mississippi said he hoped that what had been said would sink into the mind of Secretary Glass and also members of Congress.

Forfeits Bond in Short-Weight Case

The first prosecution in the campaign being carried on by the superintendent of weights and measures against short-weight sales took place in the District branch of the Police Court today. The merchant defaulted and he forfeited $30 on the first charge and $20 on the second.
